Lake ice at Hardin & Brown's.

Mr. E. H. Smith was in the city Monday.

The best bargains in groceries at Hardin & Brown's.

I have a good milch cow for sale. Godfrey Haswell.

Miss Mary Allen, Louisville, was visiting here last week.

Mrs. W. J. Figgott, of Irvington, is visiting here this week.

Mrs. Melville Eskridge, of Owensboro, is visiting in the city.

Hardin & Brown's is headquarters for all kinds of vegetables.

Hon. J. Proctor Knott didn't put in an appearance here on the 4th.

Mrs. James M. Lewis, of Cloverport, was visiting here last Monday.

Mr. W. K. Barnes has given his dwelling house a new coat of paint.

Miss Lizzie Smith returned from the Long Lick neighborhood last Monday.

The best assorted stock of candies and cakes in the city, at Hardin & Brown's.

There was a very large crowd here on the 4th and every body was very orderly.

Mr. Wathen McGary and wife, of Louisville, were here last week visiting relatives and friends.

Miss Judith Bishop came down from Louisville Monday and is visiting her brother Lee Bishop.

The looks of Mrs. Heston's dwelling on Main street, is very much improved under the new repairs.

Amon Kincheol and Estell Sutton came down from Louisville last Saturday and remained here a day or two.

It is reported that Senator Wortham, of Leitchfield, has an eye to making the race for Commonwealth's attorney in this district.

Mr. Hiram Bruce, one of the oldest men in the county died at his home near this place last Saturday. He was in his ninetieth year.

Old man Hen. Ike Blair who was sent to the penitentiary about six months ago for malicious cutting has been pardoned by Governor Brown.

The race between the circuit clerks is warming up. Skillman and Wilson were putting in all the time here Monday among the pie-nickers.

Mr. Geo. C. Patton, of the Patton Vitrified Brick Works, and Superintendent Summers, of the Acme Brick Works, Cloverport, were here Monday.

Hon. D. H. Savers and son, Roscoe, came down from Frankfort Monday. Mr. Savers says he thinks the Legislature will adjourn about the last of this month.

Capt. Geo. Mercer is a pretty active Alliance man. He kept the roads pretty hot last year when Savers and Harned made their race, but his man didn't get there.

Joe Ball, Frank Shellman, Will Mattingly, Nat Hook and H. P. Hook, came down from New Albany, Monday to spend the Fourth among their friends here.

Editor Lennin figures out the Presidential situation as follows. He says the Republicans will get 165 electoral votes, the Democrats 144 and the People's Party candidate 135.

Dr. J. C. Bush, the Dentist, will be at Beard's Hotel next Monday to remain several days. Persons wishing anything in the dental line will get first-class work by calling on Dr. Bush.

The Normal School at this place taught by Professors Shacklett and Hayes closed last Saturday. It was a very successful term. They had about fifty teachers to enter the examination for certificates.

The 4th was a big day for the Catholic picnic. Several hundred people were present and Rev. Father Pike was highly pleased with results. The crowd was perfectly orderly and no disturbance of any kind occurred.

Judge T. R. McBeath, Leitchfield, was here last Monday mixing around among the people. The Judge is a candidate for re-election to the Circuit Judge bench, and the indications are that the man that beats him will have to get up and hustle.

Tom. Cannon was here last Saturday explaining to the boys how he intended to down Ken Rhodes in the race for sheriff. Mr. Cannon was never in a race before and he may have a thing or two to learn. If he would get over on the Democratic side, he certainly would have no trouble in winning.

U. S. Marshal Pate, arrested John Fintress here on the picnic grounds last Monday. Fintress has been peddling whiskey on the sly in this county for some time past it is said, but has managed to elude officer Pate all the time up until Monday, when he was taken in. He will be taken to Owensboro for trial.

The Children's Day exercises at the M. E. Church South, last Sunday was quite a success. There was a large crowd present and the collections amounted to about $17. Rev. L. E. Campbell arranged the program and the success of the meeting was principally due to his efforts in carrying it out. The children all acquitted themselves well, and the audience was highly entertained. Miss Ida May presided at the organ.

The Alliance Party met out at Hazeldell last Friday and Saturday. It was generally supposed the meeting was for the purpose of making up a sheriff's ticket, but no action was taken in that way. Before they adjourned they agreed to call a mass meeting at this place on the 23d of this month when they will put out a full ticket for Sheriff. It is generally understood that Will Tom Cannon in the Works of Rough, will head the ticket.

Mr. David Knykondall was brought here last Monday and lodged in jail on a warrant for bigamy sworn out by Mr. Marion Powell. Knykondall married Mrs. Ellengard, the daughter of Mr. Powell, at Glendean, about six weeks ago, and it soon leaked out that he had a wife living in Ohio county at the time. When Mr. Powell learned of the fact he came up and had Knykondall arrested.

BURAS.

Music is the main attraction at Buras now.

Miss Ella Piles, near here, has been ill for some days.

Mr. R. L. McGuffin paid a visit to his parents Thursday.

The talented young doctor of this place has a very good practice.

If you want cheap goods call on M. Meyer & Co., of this place.

Mr. M. Meyer and wife visited relatives at Harned Saturday.

Misses Clara and Flora Loeb, of Vine Grove, are visiting relatives at this place.

The post office of Buras has been quite overflowing with letters for the past week.

Miss Pearl McGuffin, of Constantine, is visiting her brother, R. L. McGuffin, of this place.

Any person having any horses to trade and who want a good trade call on M. Meyer & Son.

Mr. Lee Meyer, formerly of this place, but residing now in Hardinsburg, visited his father last week.

Miss Beatrice Meyer attended the show the other night and came home very much delighted with the grandness of the scenes.

The picking of blackberries and dewberries is all the rage at this place now. But owing to a severe rain Thursday the sport was checked.

The storm yesterday, (Thursday) awakened sad recollections in the hearts of the people here as they remembered the cyclone of two years ago.

Mr. Isaac Piles made a flying visit to Buras Thursday afternoon. His patent-leather shoes did not do very good service for such muddy streets.

The merchants of Buras have been doing very good business in the millinery line the past week. They have sold quite a number of elegant hats.

Many people of this place attended the picnic at Harned and felt very much refreshed when they partook of the grand refreshments the picnic afforded.

The school of this place conducted by Miss Carrie Meyer will close the 8th of this month. The pupils of the school have made very fast progress with such an able teacher.

The people of this vicinity were very much shocked to hear the sad news of the death of Mrs. Amanda Carman and deeply sympathize with the bereaved family. But cheer up dear friends, for well you know she has found a better home in Heaven.

HAWESVILLE.

R. E. Hawes returned from Caseyville Monday.

Clint G. Ford, a popular young actor, is summing in Hawesville.

Charles Williams and wife, of Henderson, are visiting friends here.

Mayor Fern and family, of Tell City, passed through here Sunday en route for Cincinnati.

P. M. Rigdon and wife, formerly of Patesville, now of Paducah, are visiting relatives in the country.

The BRECKENRIDGE NEWS is a decided favorite in Hancock. Its mechanical and news departments are considered perfect.

On last Thursday lightning struck and killed two horses for Charles Rice, and two cows for Henry Rice, each living a few miles south of here.

The Mutuals, of Louisville, and Cooks, of Evansville, played a very interesting game of base ball at Cannelton Sunday evening, resulting in the score of 3 to 1 in favor of the latter.

In order to have a committee appointed to receive a pension lately allowed him, William Phillips, was tried in the city court here Saturday and adjudged of unsound mind.

A Democratic primary election has been called for Saturday evening July 30th. Edwin Brashear and W. L. Sterrett are candidates for Circuit Clerk, while sheriff Geo. Baker has no opposition.

Congressman Ellis has announced his candidacy for re-nomination before the delegate convention at Henderson Aug. 9th. There is going to be trouble in this Congressional District in November but however, the same Democratic result.

LONG BRANCH.

Wheat crop mostly in sheek, some fields good some not so good.

Mr. J. A. McGeehee is building an addition to his home, and otherwise improving the old one.

On Friday night the lightning illuminated the heavens to the shame of our natural gas, and the roar of thunder was terrible. The rain fall was greater than ever known before, ranging from head of Doe Run creek to this place. I suppose it was a cloud burst.

Mr. Stuart Young's Ohio Piomingo Salt Works are near completion, he is boiling brine from several wells, and will soon be dishing out the snow flakes.

Mr. Young has displayed a wonderful degree of energy and judgment for one of his age and experience in the erection of his plant. He has had much to contend with in the way of rainy and bad weather, etc. Enough to have discouraged a person of less energy and enterprise. He deserves success.

FOOT DYSPEPSIA. Use Brown's Iron Bitters. Physicians recommend it. All druggists keep it. $1.00 per bottle. Genuine trade-mark and crossed red lines on wrapper.

DEGRADING FASHION.

By It The Heart Of The Tender Girl Is Turned From Father, Mother And God.

The Charity Of Silence As Well As Words Spoken And Acts Of Kindness.

Some Things Which The Cleverest Woman Has Heard And Observed.

If there is any enjoyment which can degrade a human being and harden a young heart, it is the atmosphere of a merely fashionable life. You may take the tenderest and most lovely girl, the one that is kindest at home and loves her father and mother best, and put her into the highest circles of fashionable life, with plenty of money and plenty of scope to do as she pleases; let her dress herself as she will; cover herself with jewels, costly silks and laces; let the love of admiration become the controlling passion, and by and by all the tenderness of that young girl passes away, her thoughts concentrate upon herself—what a figure she is cutting, who her admirers are, what conquests she can make. So we have the picture of a woman now, who in the beginning we could not have dreamed of.

Many are slipping through this world, hardly getting a glance at the work of God or man, unhappy in their comfortable homes, fretting about appearances; and giving unremitting labor to gain praise from those who really care nothing for them; anxious to embellish their homes for the eye of strangers, walls bright with costly pictures, select carpets and silver plate. Into these lovely rooms the life-giving sunshine can not come—tapestry and elegant decorations must not be faded. You would think all would become dissatisfied, finding no pleasure in such a home; but not so, this attitude must be induced to keep up appearances. Does it require expensive furniture and costly tapestry to make children happy at home? I fear there are but few true fathers and mothers, on account of the artificial lives they live. If they would lead in habits of simplicity, teach their children to follow in natural life, looking at a natural world in a natural way, binding their hearts to Jesus by the silken cords of deep pious affection, then, gentle manners, cheerful conversation and loving words, will make home more attractive than all the ornaments that money can give.

Without experience how can we understand the sorrow of others? We must suffer before we can sympathize; and when we have suffered then our own experience teaches us to be pitiful to others. We can handle best that sore of which we have felt the smart; and the burden, which we ourselves have borne, we can help to adjust on the shoulders of others with greatest knowledge of where the corners press. All the hardness of youth comes from want of experience. If sorrow does nothing else for us, it teaches us to be tender to others, and shows us how to alleviate by having taught us how to bear. Sometimes, indeed, we know people whose sorrows have so narrowed and concentrated their sympathies in themselves as to make them incapable of giving a passing thought of compassion for others; consequently they live in perpetual gloom, hardened by their affections, having no sympathy to give anyone, while a wise acceptance of affliction would have made them better and nobler.

There is a charity which consists in withholding words, in keeping back harsh judgment in abstaining from speech, if to speak is to condemn. Unkind words do as much harm as unkind deeds; many a heart has been wounded beyond cure by angry words. It is to the heart, which is kind and gentle that charity flies and hoods over it with the peacefulness of the dove—there it makes its home, and by the word withheld and the kind, true, word outspoken we have the sign of true nobility of soul, and that the dove of peace is in that heart. Words are the signs of thoughts, and, if the thoughts be sweet and good, the words will be kind and gentle, free from malice and uncharitableness; but a heart which is filled with bitterness, envy and jealousy will give vent to it in words, for it sees nothing bright or beautiful—no one is lovely no one is superior. It looks through a clouded vision—all things are black unlovely and of ill repute.

Words are a good test of temper and habit of thought and "To the pure all things are pure." So by one's own words we proclaim what we are. Charity hears the tale of slander, but repeats it not. It will not be the one to help the ball to roll, and it locks the unpleasant secret up in the very depths of its heart. While the world is wagging its evil tongue, charity sits dumb, or refrains from passing judgment on that of which it has no proof. The silence of charity! it can still the evil rumor. It is speech that keeps it alive and lends it wings.

Standliff Is One Of Our Boys Yet.

St. Louis, June 30, 1892.—EDITOR NEWS—Enclosed, you will please find one dollar in full payment for one year's subscription to the BRECKENRIDGE NEWS. Three grand cheers for Cleveland, Stevenson, Reform and Prosperity. Organize a good old Democratic club, and put my name down at the head of the list. I am still with the boys in old Breckenridge and will be home in November, to vote, if possible.

Yours, etc., DAVID STANLIFF.
